ABC AND SAN DIEGO POLICE SUSPEND LIQUOR LICENSE FOR ALCOHOL VIOLATIONS AND ADULT ENTERTAINMENT WITHOUT A CITY PERMIT

San Diego – The California Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control (ABC) today suspended the license of a San Diego bar after ABC Investigators and San Diego Police Vice Squad Officers discovered the illegal solicitation of alcoholic beverages, noise violations and adult entertainment activity without a city permit.

The liquor license for The Aubergene, 500-20 Fourth Avenue, San Diego, was suspended today because it advertised free drinks for a “Pajama Jam” party at the bar, violated license conditions regarding noise levels coming from the bar, and allowing adult entertainment activity without proper city permits.

The action taken was a result of a one night joint operation between the ABC and San Diego Police.

During the 10 day suspension, the bar will not be allowed to sell alcoholic beverages.
